Regarding: PTRS Users Annual Data Access Charge

To: PTRS User

The North American Portability Management LLC ("NAPM LLC") is implementing an Annual Data Access Charge ("ADAC") for all Providers of Telecommunications Related Services ("PTRS Users") that are not: (i) a Telecommunication Service Provider; or (ii) a PTRS User that is a governmental entity or a direct supplier to one or more governmental entities where the NPAC data is used solely and exclusively for governmental entities (each, an "Exempt PTRS User"). A PTRS User that believes it meets the definition of Exempt PTRS User must provide the NAPM LLC with supporting information that the NAPM LLC deems sufficient to demonstrate that the PTRS User is an Exempt PTRS User. All PTRS Users that are not Telecommunication Service Providers are subject to the ADAC until they receive written confirmation from the NAPM LLC that they are an Exempt PTRS User. All PTRS Users that are not Telecommunication Service Providers or Exempt PTRS Users, including those that pay allocable charges, will be charged an ADAC to access Number Portability Administration Center ("NPAC") data. For 2025, the ADAC is Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000 USD).

The ADAC will support the on-going operations of the NAPM LLC in managing the master contracts with the Local Number Portability Administrator ("LNPA"), including the substantial work required during any LNPA selection process and subsequent transition activities.

The ADAC will be effective January 1, 2025, and will be administered by the LNPA. The LNPA will invoice and collect the ADAC as part of the Annual Continued Qualification process. Additional materials will be forthcoming from the LNPA with further information.
